THE AMERICAN DANCE BAND DISCOGRAPHY 1917-1942

VOLUME 1

IRVING AARONSON TO ARTHUR LANGE

BRIAN RUST

ARLINGTON HOUSE • PUBLISHERS
NEW ROCHELLE, NEW YORK

The years from 1917 to 1942 witnessed the heyday, the Golden Age, of American jazz, which has been adequately covered historically and discographically in a number of volumes, and at the same time with the best years of the life of American dance music, which has not. This present work seeks to list all the known recorded work of the dance bands, famous and obscure, remembered or forgotten, that provided entertainment, pleasure, diversion and relaxation for countless millions the world over during those twenty-five years, and which, by means of those records, continue to do so.

1917 was the year when the United States entered the first World War, when the Original Dixieland Jazz Band made its New York debut and the first jazz records, thereby contributing immeasurably to revolutionizing the popular music scene. 1942 was the year when the United States entered the second World War as a combatant, and when all recording by members of the American Federation of Musicians was prohibited from July 31. The ban was lifted on November 11, 1944, but in the dance band world, as in the jazz world, things never seemed quite the same, just as they never seemed quite the same following the arrival of jazz a quarter of a century earlier.

The output of dance records in those years was of course colossal. Small, enterprising new firms vied with the established giants to secure a share of a goldmine; the top names in the band business sometimes shifted their allegiance between these rival giants, sometimes shifting them back again, and some signed briefly with the newcomers who usually sold their products in dime-stores or on news-stands. As a rule, however, the cheaper labels that sold at a quarter each - a half or a third of the price charged for the superior quality product of the large firms - provided an enormous number of dance records made by free-lance musicians under the direction of a resident studio manager, and these records were issued under a bewildering assortment of imaginative names (in the case of some Grey Gull issues, they were entirely anonymous, and were only accorded any sort of artist-credit when issued in England!) For the purposes of this book, these pseudonymous or anonymous issues are listed all together under the heading of the company that made them (principally ARC, the American Record Corporation, and Grey Gull). The curious inventions that served pseudonymously as artist-credits are given in cross-reference.

Personnels are shown where it has been possible to trace them; in a number of instances, they were taken from contemporary accounts in trade and music periodicals, which of course made no allowances for individual members of the bands being unable for some reason to take part in this or that session in the recording studio. It is believed, however, that the margin of error is reasonably narrow. The matrix number allocated by the company to each performance is shown, where traceable, with the "take" number or letter where known, in the left-hand column; there follows the title, the original American issue number, subsequent American and Canadian issues, and all known British issues. Titles issued in other countries are not shown, with the exception of those not known to have been issued anywhere else, even in America.

As it is desired to make this as complete a work of reference to what was recorded, by whom, and on what, if anything, it was made available originally by any dance band between 1917 and 1942, only the original 78 rpm issues are shown. Since the coming of LP, and human nature being what it is, nostalgically inclined towards making money, a few long-playing records of dance band recordings of those years appeared in the catalogues of the major companies, notably RCA Victor, and a considerable number have been put on sale by private individuals in limited numbers, but as these seem likely to continue, it was decided to omit all reference to them, on the assumption that those sufficiently interested in obtaining them will either make the effort to track down the original 78 by reference to its notation here, or they will peruse the current catalogues and magazines devoted to such things on LP, and invest accordingly. Tracing the original 78s is ironically relatively simple; tracing the ephemeral LP issues of the same performances is virtually impossible in detail.

In this book will be found records by dance bands, from the sweet romantic styles of Guy Lombardo and Wayne King to the vivacious "swing" of the Dorseys, from the performances bearing indelible date-stamps somewhere in the twenties to timeless masterpieces by - often - the same bands during the same, or later, periods. Records by obviously jazz-orientated bands such as Duke Ellington's, Count Basie's, and the other great negro units, are not included, as they are all covered by the jazz discographies. Nor are the works of Benny Goodman and Glenn Miller listed here, as they have both been covered in detail by Russ Connor (BG ON THE RECORD) and John Flower (MOONLIGHT SERENADE), both also published by Arlington House.

The compilation of this book has involved close examination of the files of all the major recording companies, and without the kindness and patience of the representatives of those companies, the work simply could not have been done. It is therefore my duty as author to express my sincere gratitude to Mr. Herman Diaz, Mr. E. C. Forman and Mr. Brad McCuen (RCA); Mr. Robert Altshuler, Miss Helene Chmura, Mr. Frank Driggs and Mr. John Hammond (CBS); Mr. Arnold Stone (MCA-Decca); and Mr. David Abdey and Mr. John Milliner (EMI) and Mr. Geoff Milne (Decca) in England. All of these afforded me every facility within their power to inspect not only written records, but frequently the actual pressings themselves, as well as rack after rack of trade magazines that listed the monthly releases in detail. Nor can I overlook the great help, often at a moment's notice, given by Mr. Derek Lewis, BBC Gramophone Librarian, and his staff; and Mr. Tony Pollard, Managing Editor of THE GRAMOPHONE, and his Assistant Editor Mrs. Sheila Saxon.

Special thanks are also due to Mrs. G. O. McQueen, who tirelessly copied hitherto unpublished information from the original Brunswick and Vocalion files; to Mr. Raymond Wile, who made available Xerox copies of the Edison files from 1916 onwards, and to Messrs. George Blacker, George Kay and John MacKenzie, who virtually wrote the Gennett-Champion chapters in this book between them, again largely unpublished. Then there are the tireless collectors and enthusiasts, as well as band-leaders and musicians themselves, who contributed inestimably valuable material for this work from their private collections and files. So many have willingly given so much that I fear I may have omitted some names from the following list; if this is so, please forgive the omission. All the following have taken important parts in making the work as complete as it is:-

Sylvester Ahola (USA);

Roy Bargy, Don Bestor (USA); G. W. Brotherton (UK); Bill Bryant, Paul Burgess (USA);

Yelverton Cowherd (USA);

John R. T. Davies, Fred Drew (UK);

Chris Ellis (UK);

Hymie Farberman (USA); Sandy Forbes (UK);

Bert Gould (USA);

Derek Hamilton-Smith (UK);

Ron Jewson (UK);

Art Landry; Sam Lanin; Sam Lewis (U.S.A.);

Geoff Orr (Australia);

Bill Rank; Gene Riffle (USA); Alex Robertson (Canada);

Ben Selvin, Nat Shilkret (USA); Edward Spronk (Holland); Derek Spruce (UK); Mike Sutcliffe (Australia);

Bill Triggs (UK);

Rev. Ronald Whitehead (UK); Herman Wolfson (USA);

Otto Zirkle (USA).

To all these, and to the musicians known and unknown who made the records long ago for our enjoyment, I offer my thanks.

BRIAN RUST.

NOTES

Vocalists, arrangers, special soloists, etc., are noted in the text by their initials following the title to which they refer, e.g., a title arranged by Sy Oliver, with a vocal refrain by Jo Stafford, will appear as aSO/vJS. If the arranger and the vocalist(s) have the same initials, the next letter of the surname in alphabetical order of the two names is used also; thus a Bill Challis arrangement, with a vocal refrain by Bing Crosby, is listed as aBCh/vBC.

Where no take-letter or digit is shown (as in Autograph, Gennett and Pathe) it means the first take was used; no take on an Edison recording is shown as it seems that all three takes that invariably comprised a session were used. A matrix numeral, followed by a hyphen, indicates that the take(s) used are so far not known. Where a performance was issued on several associated labels with catalogue numbers in a direct relationship (e.g., Harmony 235-H, Velvet Tone 2235-V, Diva 3235-G) only the Harmony is given. A similar relationship exists between Paramount, Puritan, Claxtonola, Broadway, Triangle and other labels, and the same procedure is adopted.

All titles are fox trots unless marked otherwise. Dance abbreviations used are as listed above.

ARC-BRUNSWICK STUDIO BANDS

Although Victor Young was the Brunswick Director of Light and Dance Music from 1931 onwards, a number of sides issued on the subsidiary Melotone label seem to have been made under other directors, and the amalgamation of these two with such as Banner, Conqueror, Domino, Jewel, Perfect, Romeo, etc. produced many more under names that actually existed. Obviously these bandleaders did not assemble in the studio and direct one or perhaps two sides apiece, so all these records have been collected together under this generic heading, with the initials of the leader named on the label given after the catalogue number. The circumstances and conditions under which living bandleaders gave their names to recordings to which they seem to have contributed little or nothing may never now be known; sides issued under names believed or known to be entirely pseudonymous are indicated thus after the session concerned. The collective personnel includes the following musicians:-

Sylvester Ahola-Bunny Berigan-Sterling Bose-Frank Guarente-Bob Effros-t/Tommy Dorsey-Charlie Butterfield-Jack Teagarden-tb/Jimmy Dorsey-Chester Hazlett-Sid Stoneburn-Arnold Brilhart-cl-as-bar etc./Larry Binyon-Mutt Hayes-cl-ts-f etc./Joe Venuti-Harry Hoffman-Walter Edelstein-Lou Kosloff-vn/Joe Meresco-Arthur Schutt-p/Eddie Lang-Carl Kress-Dick McDonough-Perry Botkin-Tommy Felline-bj-g/Joe Tarto-bb-sb/Hank Stern-bb/Artie Bernstein-Dick Cherwin-sb/Stam King-Larry Gomar-d-vib-etc./vocalists as shown in the text.

NOTE:- All issues of matrices 12865 and 12868 as HAROLD WHITE AND HIS ORCHESTRA; all issues of 12873 as DAN RITCHIE AND HIS ORCHESTRA; Panachord 25493 as HARRY WOODS AND HIS NEW JERSEY ORCHESTRA. Matrices 12864, 12866, 12869 and 12872 are Spanish vocal versions of I'M PLAYING WITH FIRE, MOON SONG, TWENTY MILLION PEOPLE and YOU ARE TOO BEAUTIFUL respectively, sung by Perla Violeta Amado, accompanied by Victor Young and his Orchestra; it is thus almost certain that Mr. Young was the director on the above eight sides also.

At this point, there occurred a number of sessions that produced sides credited on various issues to BUNNY BERIGAN AND HIS ORCHESTRA, GENE'S MERRYMAKERS, VICTOR YOUNG AND HIS ORCHESTRA and CHICK BULLOCK AND HIS LEVEE LOUNGERS, in addition to the bandleaders actual and fictitious that we have noted hitherto. Those under GENE'S MERRYMAKERS will be found under GENE KARDOS AND HIS ORCHESTRA; those known to be by Victor Young are shown under his name, and the remainder are listed under FREDDIE MARTIN AND HIS ORCHESTRA, as entries in the files suggest or claim that this is the band responsible. Unclassifiable sides or sessions are listed in this chapter as before.

VICTOR ARDEN-PHIL OHMAN AND THEIR ORCHESTRA

Victor Arden, late pianist of the All Star Trio, q.v., and Phil Ohman, late of Paul Whiteman's Orchestra, q.v., had both made many piano rolls as soloists for QRS and other labels before they began recording as a team in 1921, unaccompanied, mostly for Victor and Brunswick. The results can hardly be regarded as dance band recordings, even when assisted by banjoist Harry Reser or tuba player John Helleberg, but in 1926 they began a series of recordings with a studio band for Brunswick, although nothing is known regarding the personnel. These were followed at the end of 1927 by a similar series for Victor with what seems to have been the regular Victor Orchestra. The partnership was dissolved in 1933.

ATLANTIC DANCE ORCHESTRA

The first coupling listed below is entered in the Edison files as the "first booking" by the Meadowbrook Dance Orchestra, but on August 29, 1923, another "first booking" by a band bearing this name was entered, q.v. A group called the Meadowbrook Five, q.v., which recorded for Pathe in 1924 is apparently a Joseph Samuels organization, and Frank Dailey, q.v., was the resident bandleader at the Meadowbrook for many years (1925-1942). In view of this conflicting evidence, it is impossible at present to establish the personnel of the following recordings, but it seems that Dave Kaplan was the pianist on at least the first dozen or so sessions.

REX BATTLE AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Rex Battle was a pianist in the New York dance band world of the early 1920s, but he appears as leader of a number of bands on Canadian labels, mainly Apex, with which he had in fact no connection at all ! These are as follows:-

Apex 8195 Adrian Schubert and his Orchestra
 8209 Joseph Samuels and his Orchestra
 8278 Georgia Lullaby (Billy James and his Orchestra)
 8297 Listening (Bar Harbor Society Orchestra)
 8297 A Waltz In The Moonlight And You (Joseph Samuels and his Orchestra)
 8415 The Prisoner's Song (Eddie Peabody and his Band) (also Starr 10075)

Other Canadian issues under this name seem to be either by the Bar Harbor Society Orchestra, q.v., or (as in the case of Apex 8243 and 8351) both sides of each are by Nathan Glantz and his Orchestra, q.v.

PAUL BOLOGNESE

Paul Bolognese was apparently Musical Director to the Grey Gull complex during the late 1920s. It is thus likely that most of the titles listed under "Grey Gull House Bands" were made under his direction. Known sides giving him label credit are as follows; there are probably many others on many different labels.

FORD BRITTEN AND HIS BLUE COMETS

Although this was a pseudonym on Clarion 5006-C for Lou Gold and his Orchestra, 5041-C for the California Ramblers, 5049-C and 5060-C for Jack Albin and his Hotel Pennsylvania Music, and on Harmony 1260-H for Sam Lanin and his Orchestra, all q.v., the following are entered under the above name in the files and on the record labels themselves. It is likely that Ben Selvin organized the sessions, but it is quite possible that there was such a musician as Ford Britten.

CHICK BULLOCK AND HIS LEEVE LOUNGERS

Chick Bullock was a very popular vocalist during the 1930s, but he was never a band-leader. His name in the above context was applied to various dance bands, however - for no other reason than he sang the vocal part! See ARC studio groups; Lou Gold and his Orchestra (Perfect 15554 and 15563), and Victor Young and his Orchestra (Melotone M-12619, Perfect 15755).

This famous and most prolifically-recorded dance orchestra was also known as the Golden Gate Orchestra, and those of its records bearing this pseudonym are marked * after the catalogue number; all Edison Diamond Discs, Blue Amberols and Harmony records are also labelled thus, and are not marked. Records by small units from within the full band (e.g., the Five Birmingham Babies, the Goofus Five, the Vagabonds and the Varsity Eight (although there are records issued under the latter name that have no connection with the Ramblers as far as can be ascertained), and the Little Ramblers) are not listed in this book, as it is felt they are more essentially "hot" jazz units, and they are shown fully in JAZZ RECORDS, 1897-1942.

 NOTE:- Bluebird B-6147 and Regal Zonophone MR-1962 as TED WALLACE AND HIS ORCHESTRA; all the vocal refrains by Ed Kirkeby are labelled TED WALLACE.

Tommy Dorsey directed the next session, which produced only one title. Beyond the fact of the vocalist being Edythe Wright (Dorsey's vocalist at the time), the recording files give us no clue as to the exact instrumentation, let alone the personnel. Assuming the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra of the period was used in its entirety, it would be as follows :-

Andy Ferretti-Sterling Bose-Cliff Weston-t/Tommy Dorsey-Ben Pickering-Joe Ortolano-tb /Sid Stoneburn-cl-as/Noni Bernardi-as/Clyde Rounds-as-ts/Johnny van Eps-ts/PBull Mitchell-p/Mac Cheikes-g/Gene Traxler-sb/Sam Weiss-d/Edythe Wright-v (as Joan Hope)+v.
 New York, November 20, 1935.

98094-1 How Do I Rate With You ? - vEW BB B-6173

The same orchestra was probably used for the next session, which produced in addition four titles issued as the Little Ramblers (see JAZZ RECORDS, 1897-1942), and known to have included Bose, Stoneburn and Weiss. Charlie Bush directed.

NOTES

- In the preceding chapter, it should be noted that the Edison lateral-cut records (numbered in the 11000s and 14000s) are labelled CALIFORNIA RAMBLERS; the N-series of matrix numbers applies only to laterals, and unless a title is listed separately with this matrix serial, it may be assumed it was rejected as a lateral-cut recording.
- A Sam Lanin record (PA 36823, Per 15004 and Apex 8290) was issued under the name of the California Ramblers, as was its English equivalent on PA 11571. See also Ted Wallace and his Orchestra.

CAMEO DANCE ORCHESTRA

Bob Haring was the musical director of Cameo Records for the greater part of their existence, but while most of the sides issued as by the Cameo Dance Orchestra can be ascribed to him, the following may have been made under other direction. The instrumentation is usually 2t/tb/cl-sa-as/as/ts/vn/p/bj/bb/d. See also Arthur Lange.

Other records issued as CASINO DANCE ORCHESTRA are by Nathan Glantz and his Orchestra, q.v., or are of British or French origin (having matrix numbers in series other than 69000-70000 or upwards from 105000), or are unidentifiable, as follows. (Any of the preceding bands may have taken part in making these sides; there is some likelihood that the majority of them, at least, are by Joseph Knecht and his Waldorf-Astoria Dance Orchestra, but at the time of writing, there is nothing known to confirm this). See also Dick Cherwin and his Orchestra (PA 36878, Per 15059).

NOTE:- Columbia 5677 as HARRY RESER'S SYNCOPATERS (sic).

The subsequent change from Columbia to the Banner-Pathe-Cameo group seems to indicate a somewhat different style of band; Harry Reser probably continued to direct, but his playing is less in evidence, and his regular men are less obviously present.

8677 When Will I Know ? Ed 51122
 8834 Cuddle Me Rejected
 NOTE:- Matrix 8677 is entered in the Edison files under this date as a re-make. According to numerical sequence, the number should have been made originally on November 30, 1922, but the file for that day notes "Thanksgiving Day" and thus no recording was done, but 8677 is omitted entirely. On November 27, 1922, however, there was an un-numbered, untitled trial record made by an unidentified dance orchestra, and on November 18, 1922, Craft's Thenton Orchestra, probably the above unit, made test records that were unspecified and un-numbered.

BOB CROSBY AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Bob Crosby's orchestra during the last half of the 1930s and throughout the 1940s was one of the most jazz-orientated of the "name" bands, and the records made by his Bob-Cats during that time are of out-and-out jazz music, for the most part in an uncompromisingly Dixieland style. As a result, these are not included here, but the following is a complete account of all recordings, regardless of the style of playing, by the full band up to 1942.

EDDIE ELKINS AND HIS ORCHESTRA

According to THE TALKING MACHINE WORLD for January 15, 1922, Columbia had then just signed an exclusive contract with the management of the Knickerbocker Grill Orchestra, which was directed by violinist Eddie Elkins, and whose photograph appeared in the same issue, showing him conducting a band of t/tb/ss-as/cl-ts/p/bj/bb/d. According to the story on the same page, all the members were from California, and several had played in the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, but none is identifiable facially. Hymie Farberman-t claims he was added for recording, and two trumpets are to be heard on most if not all of them.

Despite the use of the terms "Military Band" and "Symphony Orchestra" on certain of the following records, they are all dance records of the period, although nothing is known of the identities of the personnels. The instrumentation is usually 2-3c/2tb/cl/f/pic/? 2vn/ah/bb/d. Sides issued as by the Emerson Military Band are marked *; those as Emerson Symphony Orchestra have (ES0) after the catalog number; Emerson Dance Orchestra sides are unmarked.

At this point, the name EMERSON DANCE ORCHESTRA was applied more to performances on masters leased from the Plaza Music Company, recorded (and issued) by Paramount; known examples are as follows :-

10530 Wanna (When I Wanna - You No Wanna) (Arthur Hall and the Saxophone Sextet)
 10538 Dancing Fool (Eddie Davis and his Orchestra)
 10541 Fascination (California Ramblers) (Pathe master)
 10546 Hot Lips (Paul Specht's Jazz Outfit)
 10547 You Remind Me Of My Mother (Nathan Glantz and his Orchestra)
 10556 Pack Up Your Sins And Go To The Devil (Nathan Glantz and his Orchestra)
 10560 Who Cares ? (Joseph Samuels and his Orchestra)
 10561 Nellie Kelly, I Love You (Joseph Samuels and his Orchestra)

A regular studio band, but of which nothing is known regarding personnel, was then formed following the reorganization of the Emerson Company in 1922, and using the conventional 2t/tb/2ss-as/ts/p/bj/bb/d format, the following sides were made.

Owen Fallon's name was also used as a pseudonym for the ARC studio bands of 1931-1933, along with those of Ralph Bennett, Mark Fisher, Sleepy Hall, Art Kahn and Ed Kirkeby, all of whom were real bandleaders having no obvious connection with these sessions ! Edison Bell Winner W-98, also credited to Owen Fallon, is in fact by Ozzie Nelson and his Orchestra, q.v., and other mis-labellings involving Owen Fallon will be found under Freddie Martin and Victor Young in this book.

This is not believed to be in any way connected with the Kentucky Serenaders on Columbia (1920); no details are known regarding the above band, other than the vocalist is Bob Thomas.

For the next two years, no further records appear on Brunswick under Carl Fenton's name; Mr. Herman "Hymie" Wolfson-cl-ts recalls making a number of sides for Gennett during this time, under the direction of Ruby Greenberg. Some of these were issued under Greenberg's name, but quite a number were labelled as being by Carl Fenton, as Ruby Greenberg actually purchased the right to use Fenton's name (it was a pseudonym anyway, as we have already seen !). These are listed in the following pages. It is of interest to note at this stage that several sides were issued in England on the translucent, flexible Filmophone label under the name FENTON'S RAINBOWS, which covered the identities of all kinds of bands from Cab Calloway's to studio groups assembled in London ! It is also worth noting that Brunswick began issuing records as THE PARK LANE ORCHESTRA, q.v., in 1927, but it is not certain that they were connected in any way with Carl Fenton.

 8915-A Laff It Off - vCM OK 40298

NOTE:- The fourth side above was recorded in the Arcadia Ballroom before an audience of several thousand dancers; the others were made during the day in an improvised studio. Contemporary accounts describe this as the first public recording ever made; this is not strictly true, as the burial of Britain's Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey, London on November 11, 1920 was recorded, but the Finzel record is probably the first public recording to be issued in the normal manner. The February 15, 1925 issue of THE TALKING MACHINE WORLD reports the rejected titles as having been made, but as there is no longer any documentary evidence in existence regarding them, the matrix numbers shown are necessarily estimated.

NATHAN GLANTZ

Nathan Glantz was a pioneer recording-session musician who played alto and tenor saxophone as soloist, sideman or nominal leader on literally thousands of records during the 1920s. Sometimes he was credited with titles with which he obviously had no connection; the usual label credits are NATHAN GLANTZ AND HIS ORCHESTRA or simply GLANTZ AND HIS ORCHESTRA, but in this chapter, to save space somewhat, only entirely different credits are shown where these can be readily traced to Nathan Glantz. A news item in THE TALKING MACHINE WORLD for January 15, 1921, before any records had been made under Nathan Glantz's name, noted that he "recently went to Canada to record for Berliner....(he) is now playing for practically all the record companies." The first item is credited on the only known issue to IMPERIAL DANCE ORCHESTRA, but the previous matrix number is of a Nathan Glantz solo, and it is thus almost certain to have been made at that session.

Apex 8279 as LANIN AND HIS ORCHESTRA. In connection with the last-named, it is interesting to note that Mr. Vic d'Ippolito's diary for November 5, 1924, refers to his having recorded SOMEBODY LIKE YOU with Sam Lanin's Orchestra on that day.
It may be that at any rate some copies of the Pathe/Perfect issue of this are by Lou Gold, while others were pressed from a Banner master as shown, made a month or so earlier by Sam Lanin (or was the Apex only made by the Lanin orchestra ?)

A curious case of changing identity occurs on a Plaza recording session on this date. Matrices 8630-4, 8729-5 and 8753-1 were all made at that time, the first being a re-make of a Lou Gold side, the second of a Fred Rich, and the third the first and only attempt at recording a title credited in the ARC files to "Roy Carlson's Dance Orchestra," and issued thus on Banner 6419 only. The mere fact that Lou Gold and his Orchestra made the earlier takes of 8630, and Fred Rich the earlier takes of 8729 does not mean either directed the May 14, 1929 session; in all probability the man in charge was Adrian Schubert anyway!

GOLDEN GATE (DANCE) ORCHESTRA

On Edison, Harmony, Pathe Actuelle and Perfect this almost always indicated the California Ramblers, q.v., and on Harmony 1261-H, 1265-H, 1276-H and Velvet Tone 2302-V it covered the identity of Ted Wallace and his Orchestra, q.v., itself more or less a pseudonym for the Ramblers; the following are exceptions.

Broadway 11370 It's About Time (Emerson Dance Orchestra)
 Pathe Actuelle 036121 Caressing (D. Onivas and his Orchestra) (also Perfect 14302)
 Puretone 11375 Both sides by Nathan Glantz and his Orchestra
 Triangle 11391 June Night (Nathan Glantz and his Orchestra)

THE GOOFUS FIVE AND THEIR ORCHESTRA

The original Goofus Five were a quintet of members of the California Ramblers, whose records (on Okeh and Parlophone) belong more obviously to JAZZ RECORDS, 1897-1942, where they are listed in detail; the later sides, issued under the above name, are by the California Ramblers as constituted at the time (1928-1929), and are listed below. See also Ted Wallace and his Orchestra.

GREEN BROTHERS

George Hamilton Green and his brother Joe were two of the most prolific recording artists in New York during the span covered by this book. The following is a listing of all their known records made jointly under various names, which are shown at the appropriate points in the text. The instrumentation, and thus the personnel, varies from date to date, but the usual musicians to be heard on the Green Brothers' records are as follows :-

Earl Oliver-Hymie Farberman-Harry Glantz-t/Tom Brown-Charles Randall-tb/F. Wheeler Wadsworth-Rudy Wiedoeft-Sammy Feinsmith-as/Ed Violinsky-vn/Victor Arden-Phil Ohman-p/George Hamilton Green-Joe Green-d-x-marimba-vib/John Helleberg-bb. This is a collective personnel only.

These present by far the greatest indexing problem in the whole of this work. The Grey Gull Company of Boston, Mass., during the 1920s employed a fairly regularly-constituted dance band that made an enormous number of sides under a bewildering variety of names. Sometimes the same title would appear on the different labels issued by Grey Gull under as many different band-names, and in many instances the Grey Gull label itself shrouded its faithful employees in total anonymity! The backbone as it were, of this "house" band were the trumpet player Mike Mosiello and the alto saxophonist Andy Sannella, who doubled on clarinet and steel guitar, to whom are frequently credited the compositions of the titles recorded when these were not current Tin Pan Alley "hits." Further indexing problems arise in connection with these when they also appear on other Grey Gull labels under a variety of names. Added to all this is the question of positive identification when a Grey Gull master crossed the Atlantic and was used for filling the monthly supplements of such British labels as Piccadilly, Dominion and the curious cream-colored flexible Goodson record. The latter in particular almost outdid its American parent in the outlandish names invented by someone in its publicity department. To reference and cross-reference each individual title under its known labelling would be as tiresome for the reader as for the compiler, so all these strange identities are referred throughout the text to this heading. The following chapter does not pretend to be exhaustive; but it should help the dance-record collector to establish at least an approximate date and personnel for any Grey Gull product in his possession. Where known, the name given to the band is listed immediately AFTER the catalog number of the record.

SLEEPY HALL AND HIS COLLEGIANS

John "Sleepy Hall" Nelson was a dance-band banjoist. during the 1920s, but the majority of the records bearing the above designation were made by studio bands under the direction of Adrian Schubert or Victor Young (q.v.; see also ARC-Brunswick studio bands). There was also the following session, but at present no

EPH HANNAFORD'S BROADWAY ORCHESTRA

Ephraim Hannaford was a prominent dance-band trombonist in New York (and London !) in the 1920s; he probably played on most of Joseph Samuels' records of the time, as the above name is used as a pseudonym for many of them on Banner and Regal.

HANNAN DANCE BAND

Pseudonym adopted by Columbia in London for any dance band, American or British; the American masters were given British numbers and as a rule the original matrix number was suppressed, but if there is a small run-off groove on a record bearing this label-credit, it is pressed from an American master. (London "Hannans" have no such spiral). The following are within the scope of this book :-

- 3573 Haunting Melody (The Cavaliers - see Ben Selvin)
 3592 I Want To Be Happy (The California Ramblers; a version by a British studio band under the direction of Stan Greening was also issued under this name and number, its "locked groove" finish providing the clue to its origin)
 3600 Oh ! Mabel (The California Ramblers)
 3602 Moonlight And Roses (Manhattan Dance Makers)
 3602 Yearning (Harry Reser's Syncopators)
 3611 I'll See You In My Dreams (W. C. Polla's Clover Gardens Orchestra)
 3613 The Only, Only One For Me (W. C. Polla's Clover Gardens Orchestra)
 3615 Take A Little One-Step (The California Ramblers)
 3652 At The End Of The Road (Sam Lanin and his Orchestra)

BOB HARING

Bob Haring directed the house band for Cameo records from their beginning in 1922 until their merger with Pathe and Plaza in 1929, usually under his own name, but sometimes under colourful pseudonyms typical of the era. He also recorded for Brunswick during this time using the names COLONIAL CLUB ORCHESTRA, THE COPLEY PLAZA ORCHESTRA, THE CLEVELANDERS and (in the case of British issues) "KING" SOLOMON AND HIS MINERS. For the last year of his recording career, Bob Haring recorded for the Banner (Plaza-ARC) combine. The following is probably not an absolutely complete account of every record he made, as there may be others under pseudonyms not normally associated with Mr. Haring.

This was a pseudonym on Banner, Melotone and associated labels for Don Redman and his Orchestra, and in one instance for Mills Blue Rhythm Band (see JAZZ RECORDS, 1897-1942); the following four sides are listed in the ARC files under the same name, although all issues of the first two appeared as BOB CAUSER AND HIS CORNELL-IANS ! It is believed there was such a man as Earl Harlan, but his position as a musician is somewhat open to doubt; he was probably a band agent or contractor.

IMPERIAL BAND/ORCHESTRA

The following records originally appeared on the American Imperial label between June and December, 1917; in January, 1918 the brand-name was changed to Empire, and the entire catalogue was re-labelled. The unit performing on these very rare records is impossible to identify now, but it probably consisted of 2-3c/2tb/ah/th/bar h/as/bb/d, with various doubling between f/pic/bsn, etc.

Instrumentation and personnel unknown; the title is composed by the negro pianist and bandleader Clarence M. Jones, and in view of this, and the name of the band, it may well be that the item belongs more suitably in JAZZ RECORDS.

Jaudas's Society Orchestra was making Edison Diamond Discs and Blue Amberol cylinders for some years prior to the first titles listed in this chapter, but they are very much "of their period," and the 1916 recordings are shown here simply to show the transition of the repertoire of a smart society dance orchestra from the quadrille to "jass" numbers.
